

■ First Episode of Light & Sound Show of Pradhanmantri Sangrahalaya Launched

The first episode of a light and sound show hosted at the Pradhanmantri Sangrahalaya in New Delhi has been launched. The show is an important addition to the museum complex. The first episode presents the remarkable journey of India's space programme since Independence. The 30-minute-long episode offers information about ancient Indian knowledge, including mathematics and astronomy which immensely contribute to the development of the country. The script covers all the major milestones of India's remarkable space journey. The show has an interesting script wherein a young inquisitive girl seeks innocent information about the universe beyond Earth. Actor Shri. Amitabh Bachchan has lent his voice to the script. The second show will cover the bravery of unsung women warriors of India's struggle for Independence. It is expected to be ready by February 2023.
